1.0 Purpose

Credit Union Australia Ltd, (A.B.N. 44 087 650 959) trading as Great Southern Bank ("Great Southern Bank")" is committed to the highest standards of conduct and ethical behaviour in all our business activities, and to promoting and supporting a culture of honest and ethical behaviour in line with our Values, and good corporate governance.

Great Southern Bank (the Bank) is committed to providing a safe, respectful and healthy work environment:

1. which is free from illegal, corrupt or fraudulent activity, bullying, sexual harassment, harassment, discrimination and where all team members are treated fairly, with dignity and respect,
2. where everyone feels part of a diverse and inclusive workplace where team members can feel safe to speak up, act with integrity, respect differences and treat others fairly and equitably.

In line with the Great Southern Bank value of Genuine, and behaviour to Speak-up, Great Southern Bank encourages the reporting of any experienced or witnessed instances of suspected unethical, illegal, fraudulent or undesirable conduct and provides protections so that those who make a report may do so confidentially and without fear of intimidation or reprisal.

For Great Southern Bank team members, this Policy should be read in conjunction with the Grievance Resolution Procedure, which can be found on the Intranet.

2.0 Scope

The Whistleblower Policy provides an avenue for the following people to raise serious concerns with reassurance there will be no disadvantage for whistleblowing.

1. Great Southern Bank team members (including directors and officers) and former team members
2. Any entity (or their employees) who supply goods and services to any Great Southern Bank group entity
3. Anyone who is an associate of any Great Southern Bank group entity
4. Anyone who is a relative of someone described in 1-3 above
5. A dependant of someone who is:
 - described in 1 – 3, or
 - a spouse of someone described in 1 – 3.

Disclosures may be anonymous.

3.0 Exceptions

There are to be no exceptions with the compliance of this Policy.

4.0 Policy Approvers / Frequency of Review

4.1 Approvers

The approver of this Policy is the Board.

The Board will approve this Policy on behalf of each Group Company to the extent that it is applicable to them.

There is Legislative/Regulator requirement for Board approval of this Policy.

4.2 Review

This Policy will be reviewed triennially or as required subject to legislative or regulatory requirements, to ensure:

- currency, relevance and accuracy, and
- that it continues to meet the needs, strategic imperatives and cultural alignment intentions of the Group.

There is no legislative/regulator-stipulated review period for this Policy.

To ensure the Policy remains fit for purpose, the Policy Owner can make the following changes to the Policy without Board approval:

- grammatical/spelling errors,
- minor wording amendments to align to the Group's strategic direction and Purpose, and
- amendments to diagrams throughout the Policy and Appendices.

5.0 Policy Owner

The owner of this Policy is the Chief People Officer.

6.0 Distribution

This Policy will be made available to all directors, officers and team members. Additionally, the Policy will be available on Great Southern Bank's website for external stakeholders and interested parties.

7.0 Policy

7.1 What sort of conduct is reportable?

Under this policy, you may make a report if you have reasonable grounds to suspect that a Great Southern Bank director, officer, team member, contractor, supplier or other person who deals with Great Southern Bank has engaged in the conduct which:

- is dishonest, fraudulent, corrupt, or constitutes theft,
- is illegal activity,
- is unethical or in breach of Great Southern Bank's Code of Conduct, policies, standards or values.,
- may cause damage to Great Southern Bank, a team member, or a third party such as unsafe work practices, health risks, or abuse of Great Southern Bank's property,
- constitutes an abuse of position,
- may cause financial loss to Great Southern Bank, damage our reputation or be in general detrimental to Great Southern Bank's interests,
- endangers safety, health and wellbeing,
- involves sexual harassment, harassment, bullying, discrimination or victimisation, or
- involves any kind of misconduct or improper circumstances.

Whistleblowers may also make a report if they have witnessed this conduct (as a by-stander).

Personal, work-related grievances are not included within this Whistleblower Policy framework. Examples of this include interpersonal conflict between the Whistleblower and another team member and grievances related to the Whistleblower's employment or other engagement (i.e. relating to a transfer, promotion or disciplinary action).

7.2 How to raise a Whistleblower concern

Great Southern Bank has several channels available for reporting issues or concerns.

1. To ensure appropriate escalation and timely investigation, we request that reports are made to any of our Whistleblower Protections Officers or senior leaders as identified below:
 - General Counsel and Company Secretary
 - Chief People Officer
 - Chief Financial Officer
2. Whistleblower complaints can be made via Great Southern Bank's Whistleblower Speak-up Hotline which is managed by an external provider. The details are available on Great Southern Bank's Intranet and website, and in Schedule 1 of this policy. The external third-party provider will receive the complaint and escalate according to Great Southern Bank's Policy and supply the details of the disclosure to a Whistleblower Protections Officer. Reports may be anonymous, however, if contact details are provided, they will only be provided to the Whistleblower Protections Officer with the Whistleblower's consent.

- Whistleblowers may also make disclosures to any Board member, Executive or Senior Leader of Great Southern Bank. Board members may be contacted through the General Counsel and Company Secretary.

Note:

- The Whistleblower may also be a bystander to the action or behaviour. Please refer to the definitions section for more details.
- Anonymous complaints raised to a Great Southern Bank Officer or senior leader will be managed in accordance with the Whistleblower Policy, unless it is a work related grievance, in which case, it will be managed in line with the Grievance Resolution Procedure

7.3 Investigation of reportable conduct

Great Southern Bank will investigate all matters reported as soon as practicable after the matter has been reported. A Whistleblower Protections Officer may appoint a person to assist in the investigation of a report. Where appropriate, Great Southern Bank will provide feedback on the investigation's progress or outcome subject to considerations of privacy.

Each investigation will be conducted in a fair and objective manner even though the process of each case will be determined by the particulars of the matter. Once reported, a Whistleblower Protections Officer or Investigator will contact the reporter to discuss the investigation process. Where a report is made anonymously, Great Southern Bank will conduct the investigation based on the information provided.

7.4 Protection of Whistleblowers

Great Southern Bank is committed to ensuring confidentiality in respect to all matters raised under this policy, and that those who do make a report are treated fairly and experience no detriment.

Great Southern Bank will ensure that the Whistleblower does not suffer the following detriments as a result of making the Disclosures:

- dismissal,
- demotion,
- any form of harassment or victimisation,
- discrimination,
- current or future bias,
- damage to reputation, business or financial position, or
- prosecution.

If anyone is subjected to detrimental treatment because of making a report under this policy, they should inform a Whistleblower Protections Officer or senior leader within their relevant division/business unit immediately.

7.4.1 Anonymity

The Whistleblower may or may not wish to remain anonymous, and Great Southern Bank will guarantee the protection of identity to the extent of the law.

7.4.2 Temporary relocation or leave of absence

In the rare event that the Whistleblower's identity cannot remain anonymous due to the nature of the investigation, the Whistleblower may seek temporary workplace relocation or a leave of absence during the investigation.

Requests for relocation should be made to the Whistleblower Protection Officer, who will then make all reasonable efforts to accommodate the request, with consideration to business requirements.

7.5 Appeals

If the Whistleblower believes that they have not been provided with the appropriate protection throughout this process, then they may appeal directly to the Whistleblower Protections Officer for independent review of the allegations and process. If deemed relevant, escalation may be up to Great Southern Bank's Chair.

All information and reports are to be kept confidential and secure at all times to the extent of the law.

7.6 Investigation Officers

 - a legal practitioner for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or legal representation in relation to the operation of the Whistleblower provisions in the Corporations Act,
- or the disclosure is an emergency or public interest disclosure.

12. The Whistleblower has reasonable grounds to suspect that the information being disclosed concerns misconduct, or an improper state of affairs or circumstances in relation to the Great Southern Bank Group. This may include a breach of the relevant legislation applicable to this policy, including the Corporations Act, an offence against the Commonwealth punishable by imprisonment for 12 months or more or conduct that represents a danger to the public or financial system.

Examples of conduct which may amount to a breach of the Corporations Act include:

- insider trading,
- insolvent trading,
- breach of the continuous disclosure rules,
- failure to keep accurate financial records,
- falsification of accounts,

- failure of a director or other officer of the Group to act with the care and diligence that a reasonable person would exercise,
- failure to act in good faith in the best interests of the corporation, or
- failure of a director to give notice of any material personal interest in a matter relating to the affairs of the company.

When the above conditions are met, the following protections are given by the Corporations Act.

1. The Whistleblower is immune from any civil, criminal or administrative legal action (including disciplinary action) for making the disclosure.
2. No contractual or other remedies may be enforced, and no contractual or other right may be exercised, against the Whistleblower for making the report.
3. The reported information is not admissible against the Whistleblower in criminal proceedings or in proceedings for the imposition of a penalty other than proceedings Whistleblower in respect of the falsity of the information (however other than provided for in this subparagraph (c), the protections do not prevent the discloser being subject to any civil, criminal or administrative liability for conduct of the discloser that is revealed by the discloser).
4. Anyone who causes or threatens to cause detriment to a Whistleblower or another person in the belief or suspicion that a report has been made, or may have been made, proposes to or could be made, may be guilty of an offence and may be liable for damages; (e) a Whistleblower's identity cannot be disclosed to a Court or tribunal except where considered necessary.
5. The person receiving the report commits an offence if they disclose the substance of the report or the Whistleblower's identity, without the Whistleblower's consent, to anyone except ASIC, APRA, the AFP or a lawyer for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or representation in relation to the report.

Confidentiality

If a report is made, the identity of the discloser must be kept confidential unless one of the following exceptions applies:

- the discloser consents to the disclosure of their identity,
- disclosure of details that might reveal the discloser's identity is reasonably necessary for the effective investigation of the matter,
- the concern is reported to ASIC, APRA, or the AFP, or
- the concern is raised with a lawyer for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or representation.

 - any other team member or officer of Great Southern Bank who has functions or duties relating to tax affairs of the company (e.g. an internal accountant),
 - the Commissioner of Taxation, or
 - a legal practitioner for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or legal representation in relation to the operation of the Whistleblower provisions in the Taxation Administration Act.

3. If the report is made to a Great Southern Bank recipient, the Whistleblower:
 - has reasonable grounds to suspect that the information indicates misconduct, or an improper state of affairs or circumstances, in relation to the tax affairs of a Great Southern Bank Group Company or an associate of that company, and
 - considers that the information may assist the Great Southern Bank recipient to perform functions or duties in relation to the tax affairs of a Great Southern Bank Group Company or an associate of the company.

4. If the report is made to the Commissioner of Taxation, the Whistleblower considers that the information may assist the Great Southern Bank recipient to perform functions or duties in relation to the tax affairs of a Great Southern Bank Group Company or an associate of the company.

When the above conditions are met, the following protections are given by the Taxation Administration Act.

1. The Whistleblower is immune from any civil, criminal or administrative legal action (including disciplinary action) for making the disclosure,
2. no contractual or other remedies may be enforced, and no contractual or other right may be exercised, against the Whistleblower for making the report,
3. where the disclosure was made to the Commissioner of Taxation, the reported information is not admissible against the Whistleblower in criminal proceedings or in proceedings for the imposition of a penalty, except where the proceedings are concerned with whether the information is false,
4. unless the Whistleblower has acted unreasonably, a Whistleblower cannot be ordered to pay costs in any legal proceedings in relation to a report,
5. anyone who causes or threatens to cause detriment to a Whistleblower or another person in the belief or suspicion that a report has been made, or may have been made, proposes to or could be made, may be guilty of an offence and liable to pay damages,
6. a Whistleblower's identity cannot be disclosed to a Court or tribunal except where considered necessary, and
7. the person receiving the report commits an offence if they disclose the substance of the report or the Whistleblower's identity, without the Whistleblower's consent, to anyone except the Commissioner of Taxation, the AFP or a lawyer for the purpose of obtaining legal advice or representation in relation to the report.

Confidentiality

If a report is made, the identity of the discloser will be kept confidential unless one of the following exceptions applies:

- the discloser consents,
- disclosure of details that might reveal their identity is reasonably necessary for the effective investigation of the allegations,
- the concern is reported to the Commissioner of Taxation or the AFP, or
- the concern is raised with a lawyer for the purpose obtaining legal advice or representation.
